

SEASONAL NATURAL RESOURCE TECHNICIAN

James L. Able Forestry Consultants, Inc. has an opening for a highly-motivated full time Natural Resource Technician.

This position is a seasonal forestry position for a qualified current Natural Resource student or graduate. The position will be working under an experienced Registered Professional Forester performing numerous tasks including but not limited to wildlife surveys, timber marking, timber cruising, preparation of Timber Harvest Plans, Non-industrial Timber Harvest Plans, flagging watercourse protection zones and timber harvest boundaries. Work will be in steep and rugged terrain and under varying weather conditions.

Applicants should have the following basic qualifications:

Have a 2 or 4 year degree in Natural Resources or similar field or be in the process of obtaining these degrees.

Should be familiar with California tree species, California wildlife species, skills in using a compass and reading a map, familiar with GPS units and GIS mapping systems, ability to navigate and walk in steep terrain. Be comfortable with working alone and/or at night in the back country.

Have a valid driver's license and be able to or familiar with driving on narrow mountain roads.

The applicant should have the ability to work out of town for multiple days as directed.

Pay rate is commensurate with level of experience, a work vehicle will be provided.

If interested please send cover letter and resume' to Ben C. Cohoon c/o James L. Able Forestry Consultants, Inc., 1410 2nd Street, Eureka, CA 95501; or e-mail to bcohoon@ableforestry.com. For questions please call Ben C. Cohoon at 707-445-4130.